

To tell a life: Symposium on life story psychology in honor of Tilmann Habermas

Preliminary Program

Thursday, 29. September. 2022
13.30 - 14.00	Arrival/mingling
14.00-14.10	Welcome	Annette Bohn
14.10-14.50	Conceptualizing coherence in personal narratives: How and why it matters for well-being	Robyn Fivush
14.50-15.10	Getting a life: Twenty years later	Susan Bluck
15.10- 15. 40	BREAK
15.40- 16.00	Tilmann knows best how to interpret lives told	David Rubin
16.00- 16.40	Themes of agency and communion when remembering parents in middle adulthood	Christin Camia
16.40-17.00	The life story that is not being told: The memories that people would erase from their life story	Anne Scharling Rasmussen

Friday, 30. September 2022
8.00-8.30	Arrival/ Morning coffee
8.30-9.10	Life narratives and psychopathology: What life stories tell us about people experiencing mental disorders	Mélissa Allé
9.10-9.30	The mnemonic function of objects: How everyday objects can trigger life story memories	Dorthe Berntsen
9.30-9.45	Short BREAK
9.45 - 10.25	Vicarious memories and life stories promote successful adaptation and well being	David Pillemer & Dorthe Thomsen

To tell a life: Symposium on life story psychology in honor of Tilmann Habermas

10.25- 10.45	Biographies in the name of God: Exploring important autobiographical memories of members of christian orders	Tabea Wolf
10.45-11.05	BREAK
11.05-11.25	Cultural life scripts and life stories of LGBTIQ+ and heterosexual individuals	Ali Tekcan
11.25 - 12. 05	Cultural coherence and life story development	Annette Bohn
12.05 - 12.15	Concluding discussion
12.15 -13.00	Lunch	