

Markus Rinschen, MD
Associate Professor
Department of Biomedicine
Aarhus University
Aarhus, Denmark

Full Professor
III. Department of Medicine
University Medical Center Hamburg-Eppendorf,
Hamburg, Germany

E-mail: rinschen@biomed.au.dk
<https://biomed.au.dk/Rinschen-lab/>

Curriculum Vitae

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

- Since 2020 Associate Professor, Department of Biomedicine, Aarhus University.
- Since 2020 Associate Professor, III. Medical Clinic, University Hospital Hamburg Eppendorf.
- 2018-2019 Visiting Investigator, Scripps Center for Metabolomics and Mass spectrometry, The Scripps Research Institute
- 2012-2019 Postdoc, resident and investigator at Department of Internal Medicine II, University of Cologne.
- 2004-2011 Study of Medicine, WWU Muenster, Germany and NHLBI, Bethesda, MD, USA

SCHOLARSHIPS AND HONOURS

- Associate Editor, Physiological Genomics (2021)
- Guyton Award for Excellency in Integrative Physiology , American Physiological Society (2020)
- Physiological Omics New Investigator Award, American Physiological Society (2020)
- Editorial Board, American Journal of Physiology – Renal Physiology (2020)
- Associate Editor, Journal of the American Society of Nephrology (2019)
- Research Recognition Award for meritorious work as junior faculty, Renal Section, American Physiological Society (2018)
- Wissenschaftspreis des Industrieklubs Düsseldorf, Germany. Scientific award for innovative research in the area of “life sciences or medicine” (2018)
- Du Bois-Reymond Award, German Physiological Society (2018)
- Carl-Ludwig-Award, German Nephrology Society (2018)